

KMR Communications, Inc. is a Manhattan public relations firm specializing in beauty, medicine and fitness. Their client base is comprised of plastic surgeons, dermatologist, hair salons, day spas, and cosmetic companies to name but a few. Those who wish to increase their volume of business seek KMR's expert help as an alternative or adjunct to advertising. They represent those that enjoy excellent reputations in their respective fields and wish to enhance their name recognition among upscale consumers through quality press coverage. Their clients regularly appear in prestigious publications such as Vogue, Allure, and Cosmopolitan and Television programs such as 20/20, Extra and all network news programs. To learn how public relations can advance your business or medical practice, please contact Katherine Rothman @ KMR Communications.